WLA2023 Request for Proposals

WLA is accepting proposals for the 2023 WLA Conference, March 30-April 1, 2023 in Wenatchee, WA. On behalf of the conference committee, we invite you to submit a program proposal!

The 2023 conference theme is All In, Reach Out. Our experiences over the past few years have reinforced the importance of connection. We've adapted and learned new ways to connect with each other, to collaborate with community partners, and to meet the changing needs of our patrons and students. Join us at the confluence of the Columbia and Wenatchee Rivers this spring, where we will explore our methods of connection and share the resulting innovations. By reaching out and breaking down silos, we can be all in for our communities.

Programs relevant to all kinds of libraries are sought! Program session lengths available include:

- Preconference workshops: 3, 4, or 7 hours
- Conference sessions: 45 or 75 minutes
- "WLA After Dark" sessions: 45 minutes
- Lightning Talk sessions: 10 minutes

As you ready your proposal, we recommend collecting the following information in advance:

- Presenter Information (including the name, phone, email, job title, organization, and address of ALL presenters)
- Program Format
- Program Title and Description (approximately 100 words in length)
- Intended Outcomes of Program
- See a preview of all questions at <https://tinyurl.com/WLA-RFP-2023>

Proposals are due no later than Wednesday, Oct. 26. Applicants will be notified of their proposal status by Nov. 9.

Ready to submit your proposal? Access the application form.

If you have any questions, please reach out to the WLA Office at info@wla.org.

Registration is open for the 2022 WLA Accessibility in Libraries Summit!

This all-day virtual event on Friday, Oct. 21 will bring together library professionals to engage in topics surrounding accessibility. Divisional round tables will take place at the end of the day so that attendees can connect and reflect on what they've learned.

The Summit will have a single interdisciplinary track. View program descriptions. Attendees can look forward to a schedule that will include:

- Opening Keynote: "Library Accessibility: What I Didn't Learn in Library School" (Renee Grassi, Dakota County Library)
- Accessible E-Resources (Ray Zill, Evergreen State College)

- See, Feel, Hear: Multisensory Youth Programming (Erin Groth, Washington Talking Book & Braille Library)
- Accessibility Courses & Accessibility Applied at CWU (Dr. Naomi Jeffery Petersen and Elizabeth Brown, Central Washington University)
- Keeping Board Game Collections & Events Inclusive (John Pappas, Lower Merion Library System)

Cost to attend the Summit is $20 for WLA students, $35 for WLA members, and $55 for non-members. Organizational rates are also available! Those who cannot attend the sessions live will receive recordings after the event.

If you have any questions, please reach out to the WLA Office at info@wla.org.

Nominations open for 2023 WLA Elections

Send in your nomination by Friday, Sept. 30!

There are just a few days left to submit nominations for the 2023 WLA Elections. Self-nominations are welcome!

Stepping into a WLA role presents the opportunity to cultivate your leadership experience, meet new people in the field, and advocate for libraries! Whether you're a longtime member or new to the association, WLA invites YOU to get involved.

Explore the variety of opportunities that WLA has to offer. If you have questions about any position, please contact the WLA Office.

2023 Nomination Form

All nominees should complete the nomination form above by Friday, Sept. 30 and email their headshots to info@wla.org.

Statements in the form should be approximately 250 words and should describe how your skills and experience make you the best candidate for the position. You may want to consider these guiding questions:

- What skills would you bring to the position?
- What qualifications make you a viable candidate for the position?
- Where would you like to see WLA and the Division/Section in the future, and what would you do to move it toward that vision?

Terms of office begin January 1, 2023 and are one year, unless otherwise noted.

If you have any questions, please contact the WLA Office at info@wla.org or (206) 823-1138.

#K12Librarians4AllWA Campaign Launched!

The WLA Advocacy Committee and School Library Division have been hard at work laying the groundwork for a 2023 campaign aimed to get all Washington K-12 students access to qualified Teacher-Librarians. #K12Librarians4AllWA is the official hashtag for this WLA-supported campaign. So far, WLA members have created a website to inform Washington residents about the campaign and how they can help, crafted a letter of support for WLA to send state legislators, and even designed a campaign logo.

We need the support of ALL WLA members to make this campaign a success. Check out the website to learn more about the current state of school libraries in Washington and why this campaign is important. Share our graphics on social media (with #K12Librarians4AllWA), and let your friends and families know about this essential campaign. Most important, write to your state legislators with your reasons for supporting strong school libraries. Invite your state legislators, district administrators, and school board members into your school library. You find out how to contact your legislators on the campaign website along with a sample letter and talking points.

Today's students encounter more information, and more disinformation, than ever before. Strong school library programs help fight disinformation, increase student achievement, prepare students for college, career, and community, and help close the achievement gap for students experiencing poverty. Current Washington law has a loophole which allows individual school districts to take funds provided for Teacher-Librarians and use them for other things. Help us close this gap and ensure that Washington's K-12 students have access to the strong school library programs they need.

Alki* Call for Papers: Indigenous Librarianship

The Washington library community wants to hear from you! Share your voice by publishing in Alki: The Washington Library Association Journal. We welcome content from all library workers, students, supporters, volunteers, and trustees. We publish peer-reviewed articles, opinion pieces, creative writing, and art. The deadline to submit for this issue of Alki is Oct. 15.

For far too long, American libraries have had problematic interactions with local tribes, reinforcing destructive colonial relationships or helping to perpetuate the mythology that Native peoples are "disappearing." December's issue of Alki will publish pieces that center indigenous voices in our community, consider our relationships with local tribes, and highlight the practice of indigenous librarianship. Indigenous librarianship prioritizes the interests, practices, needs, and support of Indigenous people and can be practiced by both indigenous and non-indigenous librarians. Submissions could include the following:

- Art, opinion pieces, or articles written by indigenous members of our community
- Visual tours or spotlights on tribal libraries, museums, archives, or research centers
- Pieces highlighting programming and/or partnerships between libraries and local tribes, tribal members that center tribes, or tribal revitalization efforts
- Theoretical pieces on how libraries could support tribal sovereignty efforts
- Reports on how libraries have worked with local tribes to feature authentic
- Native arts in their physical or virtual spaces
- Articles or research on integrating indigenous language, knowledge, and information sharing in your library

- Research on critical concepts that non-Indigenous peoples need to know

Submission guidelines can be viewed at <https://www.wla.org/alki-instructions>. If you have any questions or want to discuss ideas and expectations, please email Alki Editor Ray Zill at alkieditor@wla.org.

Media Literacy & Digital Citizenship Ambassadors Pilot Program

The OSPI Media Literacy & Digital Citizenship Program is accepting Requests to Participate from Washington State K-12 teachers and teacher-librarians who want to join the Ambassadors Pilot Program cohort for the 2022-23 school year.

Participants will develop their Media Literacy & Digital Citizenship instruction and leadership skills through a series of synchronous virtual sessions with guest presenters, synchronous PLC sessions, and asynchronous activities that help them reflect on their learning and make plans for implementation. Free clock hours and other benefits will be available.

Requests to participate are due by 4 p.m. on Sept. 30. Decisions about the cohort will be made by Oct. 10.

For more information, please read this handout, watch this informational session recording, or contact Lesley James, OSPI Media Literacy & Digital Citizenship Program Supervisor at lesley.james@k12.wa.us.

The Learning Curve

Public Library Staff and Diversity: Results from PLA's 2021 Survey

Join the Public Library Association (PLA) on Oct. 4 from 11 a.m.-12 p.m. PT for this free webinar on the results of the 2021 annual survey on Public Library Staff and Diversity. Register here.

Please note that due to high demand, up to 1,500 registrations will be accepted for the event, but only the first 1,000 viewers will be able to attend live. The webinar will be recorded for later viewing.

The results provide new and updated information related to beginning librarian and library director salaries; staff roles; hiring and retention efforts; and equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) goals and activities. The webinar will highlight how the data suggests both opportunities and challenges for the future of public libraries. Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions and learn how to engage in PLA's on-going data-related initiatives.

The Public Library Staff and Diversity Report: Results from the 2021 PLA Annual Survey was published on August 23, 2022, and is freely and publicly accessible on the PLA website.
