From the Editor ................................................................................................. 4
Buzzword Bash: Opinion .................................................................................. 5
   By Tony Wilson
A Statewide Vision for Washington Libraries:
   Creating Excellent Libraries ......................................................................... 6
   By Michael Wood
Dialog Plus Inspiration Equals 'Vision' .......................................................... 6
   By Erin Krake
Universal Access: Statewide vision or pipe dream? ...................................... 8
   By Erin Krake
Libraries & Communities: Web 2.0 ................................................................. 10
   By Nancy Huling
School Libraries and Education Ecology ...................................................... 16
   By Rayette Sterling
Washington's Oldest Library Reflected
   Town's Aspirations ....................................................................................... 7
   By Margaret Thomas
Measuring Service Quality and Satisfaction ................................................ 12
   By Marsha Iverson
WLA Hires Management Firm ....................................................................... 14
   By Mary Wise
Legislative Update:
   Connecting With Lawmakers Promotes Library Legislation .................... 19
   By Brian Soneda
WLA Communiqué
   Library Associations Plan Joint Conference ............................................ 20
   By Annanaomi Sams
The Solinus Page
   It's a Small, Small World: Take two steps and make a connection .......... 24
   By Angelina Benedetti
News Briefs ........................................................................................................ 26
I'd Rather Be Reading
   Spin-offs: Readers advisory for viewers .................................................... 31
   By David Wright

On the cover:
State Librarian Jan Walsh and her granddaughter Kayla working on the computer.

Photo courtesy of the Washington State Library, a division of the Washington Secretary of State.