NEWS & NOTES

Call for Alki Submissions: The Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Issue

It's time to submit article ideas for the next issue of Alki! The theme for Fall 2019 is "Equity, Diversity and Inclusion." In these challenging times, our profession has an opportunity and a responsibility to rethink how we engage communities that are using our libraries, and also those that are not. Many organizations and library staff are setting bold visions, policies, programs, and examples for creating spaces of inclusion, empowerment, and belonging for everyone, particularly those who are underrepresented and marginalized. This issue is devoted to this goal and the ongoing work needed to achieve it. If you or someone you know are doing this work, and would like to write about it, please consider sending your article idea(s) to alkieditor@wla.org and include:

- Your name and position/library
- Description of the article
- Suggested title
- Estimated length (in pages); each page = 750 words (or fewer with graphics)
- Intent to include graphics (photo, logo, other)
- Contact information

The deadline to submit articles for the Fall issue is October 18, 2019. Please see the Instructions for Contributors for more details. Di Zhang, the editor of Alki, is happy to discuss ideas and expectations with you as more information about the schedule, keynotes, registration, and opportunities for group viewings. Programs will be focused on three topic tracks: Emergent Technologies, Career & Professional Development, and Marketing & Communications. Special consideration will be given to programs relevant to small and rural libraries.

Save the Date: WLA Academic Library Conference

well. We are also accepting articles that are not related to the theme but are of interest to the WLA community.

WLA Meetup at Seattle Children's Book Festival

Mark your calendars the first-ever Seattle Children's Book Festival! This event will take place at Greenwood Elementary on September 28 from 11:00 am–3:00 pm and feature authors and illustrations like Ben Clanton, LeUyen Pham, and Varian Johnson.

Join members of WLA at Luso Food & Wine after the festival for a no-host gathering!

Survey: Attitudes Towards Homelessness

Librarians and library paraprofessionals are asked to take a national online survey from ALA's Social Responsibilities Round Table and Texas A&M University: Attitudes towards homelessness and public library services among public and academic libraries. The purpose of this multi-institution study is to gather information on how public and academic libraries are serving their library users who are experiencing homelessness, the challenges that libraries are encountering, and the kinds of information, resources and support they would like to have to facilitate this work.

As a participant, you will be asked to complete an online questionnaire lasting approximately 15 minutes or less.

2019 Washington State Book Awards Celebration

The Washington State Book Awards honor works of outstanding literary merit by Washington authors. An award is given based on the strength of the publication's literary

What Data Does your Community Need the Most?

As government publishes more of its data online, libraries can provide expert guidance about what information to prioritize. But what data does the community need most, and what are the challenges to getting that data published? Hear what public libraries in Washington State are doing to get community-centered data online, and learn about the latest research on local data needs. Presented by Bree Norlander, MLIS, project coordinator for the Open Data Literacy project at the University of Washington .

This one hour webinar will take place Tuesday, October 1 from 9:00 am–10:00 am PT. You can learn more or register for here.
