

WELCOME TO WLA WEDNESDAY

August 19, 2020

On this day: In 1994, The search engine company Google Inc. raised $1.66 billion in its initial public offering; in an unusual move, the shares were sold in a public auction intended to put the average investor on an equal footing with financial industry professionals.

THE LEARNING CURVE

Northwest Interlibrary Loan & Resource Sharing Conference

Registration is now open for the 19th Annual Northwest Interlibrary Loan and Resource Sharing Conference (NWILL)! This year's conference will be virtual and takes place September 9-11, 2020. The Keynote speaker is Scott Brown, Senior Cybrarian at Oracle Inc.

Invitation to Participate in a Research Survey: True Value - Making Librarian Labor Visible

PhD Students at Syracuse University are interested in learning more about the invisible labor and traditionally unrecognized work of librarians so that it can be included in discussions of library value. If you were working at a library in any paid position in 2019 (staff, paraprofessional, or professional), we would love to hear about your experience with invisible labor.

Participants are asked to complete an online questionnaire. This survey is voluntary and will take about 20 minutes. The protocol has been fully approved by Syracuse University IRB. We encourage you to participate by September 15, 2020.

Explore a bustling virtual #WLA2020 Exhibit Hall where vendors will be hosting live-streams, raffles, Q&As, giveaways, and more. Collect stamps on your exhibit passport to win a free conference registration for WLA 2021!

Registration is open now! Be sure to check out our organizational rates.

Conference Attendance Scholarships

The #WLA2020 Conference Committee is excited to announce that there are a limited number of Conference Attendance Scholarships available for the upcoming virtual conference to attendees who have been financially impacted by COVID19.

To apply, please complete this application form by September 2. Recipients will be notified by September 9.

Please check with your employer to find out if they are planning on taking advantage of the special organizational registration rates that will provide access to all employees in their organization.

Call for Proposals: Black Women Librarians

In Spring 2022, the Library History Round Table will devote volume 6, number 1 of Libraries: Culture, History, and Society, and significant space in LHRT News and Notes, to scholarship, book reviews, and blog posts on Black women librarians. This issue will be guest-edited by Dr. Nicole A. Cooke, the Augusta Baker Endowed Chair and Associate Professor at the University of South Carolina. A peer-reviewed publication of the Library History Round Table of the American Library Association and the Penn State University Press, LCHS is available in print and online via JSTOR.

Dr. Cooke will accept proposals for scholarly articles and select 4-6 research studies for publication in LCHS. She will collaborate with additional authors and with Brett Spencer, LCHS book editor, and LHRT blog editor, to publish additional material in News and Notes. We are particularly interested in material on Black women librarians who have not yet been covered adequately by the scholarly or professional literature (please see the linked list). Proposals concerning other pathbreaking librarians are also welcomed. Thus, there will be various opportunities for all types of writers within the library history community to contribute toward raising awareness about the experiences of Black women within our field.

To submit a proposal, please contact Dr. Cooke via this sign-up form by November 16, 2020. Full CFP can be found here.

July Alki: Resilience & Resolve

The July 2020 issue of *Alki is now available. We called for an issue on Resilience & Resolve, and the deadline for submissions came at the end of May. Before the senseless deaths of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, and Manuel Ellis, and too many others. The context of Black Lives Matter matters, and there will be future issues and ongoing conversations devoted to accountability and anti-racist actions in our libraries.

The articles you find here are primarily about COVID-19, and they center your experiences of resilience, resolve, but also struggle. Importantly, we are introducing a new anti-racism, equity, diversity and inclusion column, to keep these core values front and center in meet the LISS leadership team and other LISS members! All WLA members are welcome to attend!

Have questions about being a library student or want to learn how to become more involved in WLA/LISS? Come to the social event! The LISS leadership team will be happy to answer any questions or concerns you may have!

Please visit the LISS page for our membership, contact information, and for the zoom link to the social event on our Meetings & Events page.

We hope to see you there!

WLA Merit Awards Now Accepting Nominations!

Do you know any amazing library professionals, advocates, students, or groups that deserve to be recognized for their support of or contributions to libraries in Washington? Of course you do!

Nominate a colleague today. Nominators may nominate more than one person for any given award, or one person for multiple awards. A separate nomination form is required for each nomination. Nominations are due September 2. Learn more about each award here. Submit your nomination here.

WLA Statement on Anti-Racism

The Washington Library Association decries the brutality Black communities experience from those charged to protect and serve. Libraries are providers of vital resources for historically under-served communities, and this work has never been more important than it is now. We are responsible for continuing to do this difficult, sometimes painful work that demands we address our biases and how they impact our ability to serve our communities equitably. We urge library professionals across Washington to fight for Black lives, actively oppose systemic oppression and police brutality, and prioritize anti-racism in all that we do. The WLA Board is committed to doing this anti-racist work within our association. To be silent is to be complicit.

The Urban Libraries Council has also released a poignant statement on race and social equity, which serves as a baseline for Alki. In creating a new column, we do not intend to limit the conversation to this space alone.

We examine the raw responses to lockdown and quarantine, examine disaster planning, look at health and equity, and how libraries might re-envision themselves. There is poetry, and there is emotion. The Alki Editor chose to let feelings speak for themselves, and too a very light hand to editing this issue.

libraries to build policies and actions designed to make their communities more inclusive and just. The statement has been signed by 163 public libraries across North America. Learn more here.
